

Title: The Time Lord

Author: Toren Smythe

---

The First Meeting of the Time Lord

---

the Cabal all gathered at the Castle Blackrock in responce to wisps that had greeted them all a day earlier.

A few of the Cabal had been told previously that Cear had a contact in Ilshenar that had told him interesting news. The Ratman miners near his town had found a large Blackmass within the cave walls. Cear could only hope that is was blackrock. After a short briefing Cear sent the Cabalists to the Meer town.

Apon arriving the Cabalists found an older man in a latter picking apple, sobbing as tho he has lost a kingdom. The cabalists learned that his son has died earlier that day by the hands of the brigands in the towns outskirts. he thought all was lost, then he remembered the Oracle, the most knowledgable person in the lands, if there was any hope, the oracle would know what it was. They were told that he oft is found meditating at shrines thruought Trammel. The Cabalists set of promising the man peace of heart. they only tried a few before entering the Shrine of Spirituality, to find a man meditating atop an unreachable pedestal. The Cabalists were stumped, there shoults would not arise the mans attention. finally a resident of Spiritwood came outside and solved the mens problem, they all spoke the mantra thrice, and appeared atop the pedestal. Om Om Om.

At the touch of one of the Cabalists, tired of waiting, the Oracle's eyes flew open. after a short coversation, the Cabal were given the location of the; to some mythical, and others an item of faith, Time Lord. The Cabal set out imidiately to his home west of spirtuality in Ilshenhar.

After solving a few of the....lonely...time Lords riddles, he promised to help them. they set out to hte large area in the front of the house and the Lord of Time cast an unimaginable spell, time time itself and all matter and air seemed to ripple for a moment and strange sounds rang. As long at the Cabal answered his next riddle, they would be teleported tot he scene of the murder, only moments before it happens. The Cabal spent many hours comtemplating the riddle.

"What two things spend there lives sitting across form eachother, yet never see eachother?" finally they all agreed and spoke the word, "eyes." Instantly they were all teleported to the brigand tower outside of the meer town. They saw the objective imidiately, they all began to swing their blades across the brigands, a few who were a plale gold shade. finally all of the murderer were dead. They healed the Meer man and took him aside. He told them the mass was seized by a skeletal dragon that spawned at the attempted to move the blackrock. the Cabal and the meer battled it fiercely and in the end, removed mass amounts of blackrock

from its ribgage.